Beste Antwort: You should honestly write about whatever you want! The best ideas are those that come from your own mind. I would just try to think of simple things that can inspire you to come up with an idea. You can be inspired by anything: It can be from something you see outside your house, at the park, a

Book Ideas Where to Get Them How to Improve Them

Give yourself time to muse over your book. If all this takes a week, it's taken you too little time. Three months would be good, but if it takes six months, that's fine, too. Jack Kerouac, famed for writing his draft for On the Road in twenty-one days, pondered his ideas for years.

How to Get an Idea for a Book For Young Writers 9 Steps

If you want to get an idea for a book, try brainstorming by writing down whatever comes to mind, such as what types of characters you'd like to create. Alternatively, if you can't think of anything, you can also try writing about something that you love. For example, if you love to swim, go for a swim and think about how to incorporate your love of swimming into a story. You could have your main character love to swim or the story could take place at a swimming pool.

Types of Writing Styles About Writing A Guide

Expository writing is one of the most common types of writing. When an author writes in an expository style, all they are trying to do is explain a concept, imparting information from themselves to a wider audience. Expository writing does not include the author's opinions, but focuses on accepted facts about a topic, including statistics or other evidence.
